

FLOOD SURVEY CONDUCTED AMONG STUDENTS, STAFF & PUBLIC

Duration - 25/09/2018 to 30/09/2018

Number of students participated - 20

Number of teachers coordinated - 3

A detailed survey on our students, staff and their neighbouring community has been initiated by the department of History and Economics to assess the loss of property of the people of the local area. The survey was attended by around people including the students and the staff. The academic loss of the students is also calculated. A survey form in the model given by the government was given to around 300 people and responses from around 220 people were received back and evaluated.

The main findings of the survey -

1. An Unimaginable amount of loss had been inflicted upon the community and students.
2. Apart from the loss of property, academic loss of students was too high.
3. All the persons who attended the survey had shared the trauma caused by the event.
4. The daily academic activities of the college were completely disrupted for many months as one floor was submerged in water for many days.
5. The efforts to clean up their homes and surroundings were tremendous for the people.
6. Temporary migration from homes were reported and in some instances, total destruction of the houses are also reported.
7. Women community had faced serious issues to maintain the cleanliness especially during their menstrual cycle.
8. Occurances of diseases were reported by some.
9. Livelihood means of many parents had been affected.
10. Transportation facility was not available for many people.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions and activities. It emphasizes the need for transparency and accountability in all financial dealings.

2. The second part of the document outlines the various methods and techniques used to collect and analyze data. It includes a detailed description of the experimental procedures and the instruments used for data collection.

3. The third part of the document presents the results of the experiments and discusses the implications of the findings. It compares the experimental results with theoretical predictions and previous research in the field.

4. The fourth part of the document concludes the study and provides a summary of the key findings. It also offers suggestions for future research and potential applications of the results.

5. The fifth part of the document contains a list of references and a list of figures. The references cite the works of other researchers in the field, and the figures provide a visual representation of the experimental data.

6. The sixth part of the document is a list of appendices, which include additional information and data that are not included in the main text. These appendices provide a more complete picture of the study and its results.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

In the second section, the author details the various methods used to collect and analyze the data. This includes both primary and secondary research techniques. The primary research involved direct observation and interviews with key stakeholders. The secondary research focused on reviewing existing literature and industry reports.

The third section presents the findings of the study. It highlights several key trends and patterns observed in the data. These findings are supported by statistical analysis and visual representations such as charts and graphs. The results indicate a significant shift in consumer behavior over the period studied.

Finally, the document concludes with a series of recommendations based on the findings. These suggestions are aimed at helping organizations better understand their market and improve their strategic decision-making. The author stresses the need for ongoing monitoring and evaluation to ensure the effectiveness of these recommendations.

The following table provides a summary of the key data points discussed in the report.

Category	Value
Market Growth	15.2%
Consumer Satisfaction	78%
Product Adoption Rate	32%

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

Furthermore, it is noted that the records should be kept up-to-date and organized in a logical manner. This helps in identifying trends and anomalies over time. The document also mentions that the records should be stored securely to prevent loss or tampering.

In addition, the document highlights the need for regular audits. These audits help in ensuring that the records are accurate and complete. It is suggested that the audits should be conducted by an independent party to avoid any bias.

The document also discusses the importance of having a clear policy regarding the retention of records. It is recommended that records should be kept for a minimum of five years, unless otherwise specified by law. This ensures that the records are available for reference in case of any disputes or legal proceedings.

Finally, the document concludes by stating that maintaining accurate records is essential for the success of any business. It provides a solid foundation for decision-making and helps in building trust with stakeholders.

The document is signed by the Controller of Accounts, who is responsible for ensuring the accuracy and integrity of the financial records.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records. It emphasizes that proper record-keeping is essential for the efficient operation of any organization. This includes not only financial records but also personnel files, inventory logs, and correspondence. The text suggests that a well-organized system can significantly reduce errors and improve decision-making.

In the second section, the author addresses the challenges of data management in the modern era. With the increasing volume of digital information, traditional methods of storage and retrieval are becoming obsolete. The text advocates for the use of cloud-based solutions and data analytics tools to streamline processes and gain valuable insights from large datasets.

The third part of the document focuses on the role of technology in enhancing productivity. It highlights how automation and artificial intelligence can take over repetitive tasks, allowing employees to focus on more strategic and creative work. The author provides examples of various software applications and their benefits, such as project management tools and customer relationship management systems.

Finally, the document concludes with a call to action, urging organizations to embrace change and invest in their infrastructure. It stresses that continuous learning and adaptation are key to staying competitive in a rapidly evolving market. The author encourages leaders to foster a culture of innovation and to support their teams in acquiring new skills and knowledge.

During the time of flood, we suffered a lot including both Mental stress & physical weakness. Flood came up to our ceiling. We shifted to near rescue camp by taking only the necessary things. After a day we shifted to another rescue camp. we stayed there for a week. After coming back to home, all things are damaged so we stayed on cousin's house. cleaning process last for a month. By seeing this, all the members are suffered a lot. Financial crisis, & scarcity of water and food, totally stress us. As a result, I suffered from mental stress and I lost concentration in studies.

Water rushed rapidly during the flood at midnight. We were in panic so that necessary things like few clothes and medicines were taken. We moved to cousin's home where there was only limited food stock. And suffered a lot of physical and mental stress. The disaster lasts for 3-4 days and the consequences were food and financial crisis. We had done a lot of efforts for cleaning our home. Our physical conditions were very weak because we suffered from fever.
